Brief Synopsis

Current Situation as of 0900 hrs

There is no change in the overall geographic boundaries of our primary deployment. It remains with the area bounded by Wellington, the Canal, Laurier and Bronson. Officers remain on the perimeter in position on observation points. There are no restrictions for pedestrian traffic but there is a requirement for road closures to facilitate the ongoing rehabilitation of the area, including the removal of additional infrastructure. This is anticipated to take several days.

There remains a robust, integrated police presence, managing traffic points, mobile response, foot patrols and QRT. Traffic services will be working in the periphery.

Overnight, there were several minor reports of protestors in and around the exclusion zone, including at the National War Memorial. Partner agencies are continuing to monitor the multiple congregation sites for protestors outside of the jurisdictional boundaries of Ottawa.
